Sept 11 RIP to the twin towers

Nineteen years ago today...

Overnight, the ECB left its main refinancing rate unchanged at 0.00% and maintained its pledge to purchase up to EUR1.35 trillion of debt through to June 2021 under its Pandemic Emergency Purchase Programme (PEPP). The interest rates on the marginal lending facility and the deposit facility will remain at 0.25% and -0.50% respectively. When questioned on the strengthening euro, President Lagarde said "The Governing Council discussed the appreciation of the euro, but as you know we don't target the exchange rate."

US initial jobless claims numbers are stabilising at uncomfortable levels, with 884,000 claims this week, which was the same as the previous week. It is the first time since the pandemic hit that claims have stayed below 1 million for two straight weeks. The 4-week moving average was 970,750, a decrease of 21,750 from the previous week.

Equities fell sharply in a volatile trading session as the rout in tech resumed, following a one day respite. Most US and European indices were down 1-2%, commodities were broadly off 2-3%, while the USD Index hit its highest level in a month. Currently, the NZD and AUD are at 0.6650 and 0.7260 against the USD and the USD 10-year Treasury yield is down 2 basis points to 0.68%.

Citigroup announced Jane Fraser as its next CEO, the first woman to head a major Wall Street bank. They also announced an increase in the number of staff allowed into their New York offices, increasing from 5% to 30%.

The South Korean Treasury has issued euro denominated debt with a negative yield, issuing EUR700 million for 5 years at a -0.059% yield! To provide a comparison, they also issued USD625 million of 10-year bonds at a mammoth 1.198% yield. According to Microsoft, Russian government hackers have targeted at least 200 organisations tied to the 2020 US presidential election.

Brexit shenanigans

The EU has called for an urgent Brexit meeting with the UK on Thursday as rumours circulate the EU are contemplating a legal challenge before the UK government manages to pass legislation which changes part of the deal regarding Northern Ireland. The EU views this as UK Prime Minister, Boris Johnson, deliberately sabotaging the Brexit trade negotiations. US House leader, Nancy Pelosi, stated there is "no way a US-UK trade deal will pass Congress if (the) Good Friday accord is undermined."

GBP/USD weakened overnight, falling from 1.3270 at the start of the week to 1.2775 overnight, while NZD/GBP continues to grind up, trading at 0.5200.

Fact of the day

The NSW state government is in 'turmoil' after the junior coalition partner, National Party, pulled their support to the senior coalition partner, the Liberal Party over their koala planning policy.
